VI	Chairperson's Report The Chair reported she was able to attend the recent ASWB Delegate Assembly. They are still moving forward with trying to work with all of the jurisdictions and ensure that everyone is incorporating the portability into their rules and regs and if assistance is needed with that, they have offered their assistance. One of the other updates that I'd like to share is that they are changing, they have changed their testing vendor. They are moving to a more virtual testing environment. So instead of going to like a Pearson Testing Center, the company that they have contracted with will allow for online testing and this is to support those who are in remote areas. The testing, although it's on Zoom, it is a live session with a moderator present. There are certain requirements that must be met in order to do that, and certain restrictions to ensure the validity and reliability of the test. So as they start to launch that more, they will provide information. Also, in addition to that, they continue to support us and ask if we would like them to provide another look at our rules and regs that are under revision at this time and they're open to that possibility.	A. 	C. ASWB Licensing Services Z. Pecina highlighted how the Association of Social Work Boards (ASWB) supports the work of regulatory boards. ASWB offers regulatory boards a range of services such as exam preapproval, licensure application processing, and license issuance. The services can be tailored to the board's needs and are supported by the only nonprofit association devoted to the public protection mission of social work regulators. A. Lape stated this was discussed previously with past Board members. The cost of services is concerning.			Conditionally Approved
