VII	A. Complaint <ol style="list-style-type: none"> GBED-CO-2024-001 – Date Received: 04/12/2024 A new business item was introduced involving a complaint from a parent and child. The process requires an investigation, including speaking with the involved doctor. The parent and child were present to add any further information to the complaint. It was noted that resolving the issue would take some time as both parties' perspectives need to be considered. The board needs a volunteer to approach the doctor to discuss the case and gather necessary records. B. Tammy Amuan Tammy Amuan reported a formal complaint against an orthodontic office. Although her complaint was not directly against the orthodontist, she wanted to discuss an incident where her daughter sustained a puncture injury, which was not immediately disclosed to her. She mentioned that the office manager required her to bring her child to see the doctor, which she found unreasonable. Ms. Amuan had paid $2,024 in full, which the office refused to refund unless she signed a waiver. On legal advice, she refrained from signing the waiver due to concerns about potential future infections and pending the board's investigation. Despite issuing the refund, the office withheld it until she signed the waiver.	GBED	1512	Tabled

Item	Discussion	Responsible Party	Reporting Time Frame	Status
	Ms. Amuan expressed concerns about the waiver being unusually specific to her daughter and was reluctant to sign it as it would prevent the removal of the appliance causing her daughter's fear of returning to the orthodontist. She recounted a distressing two-and-a-half-hour procedure where the technician caused her daughter significant pain without providing adequate pain management instructions. Ms. Amuan highlighted the office manager's rude and unprofessional behavior, including being called "drama" and receiving commands to follow the manager into her office. She stressed that she did not blame the orthodontist but wanted to discuss the technician's conduct and the lack of communication about her daughter's injury. Dr. Rapadas acknowledged Ms. Amuan's concerns and stated that they understood her points. He indicated that the board will need to send one of their investigators, to talk to the involved party about what happened to her daughter. The board asked if Tammy Amuan's daughter still had the orthodontic bands on, to which Ms. Amuan confirmed. She mentioned that her daughter is not currently in pain because they sought relief from another office after discovering that the original clinic was closed. They have since retained services from this new provider. Ms. Amuan highlighted her daughter's history of anxiety and panic attacks, emphasizing the importance of continuity in her orthodontic care to avoid further psychological distress. The issue primarily involved a waiver that Ms. Amuan was required to sign to get a refund and have the orthodontic bands removed. She also wanted assurance regarding potential infections following the puncture wound incident. The board noted there was no current infection, and Ms. Amuan confirmed her daughter was doing okay. Dr. Rapadas stated that he will talk to the orthodontist in question to gather more information about the incident and will bring the findings back for discussion at the next meeting.
