UN aid chief says Myanmar deteriorating

By Michelle Nichols
Reuters

UNITED NATIONS - United Nations aid chief Martin Griffiths warned on Monday that the humanitarian situation in Myanmar was deteriorating with more than 3 million people in need of life-saving aid due to a growing conflict and failing economy.

The U.N. Security Council also met behind closed-doors on Monday to discuss Myanmar. The meeting coincides with the first anniversary of the reelection of Aung San Suu Kyi's government, which was then ousted by the military in a Feb. 1 coup.

"Those polls were deemed free and fair by domestic and international observers," U.N. spokesman Stephane Dujarric said on Monday. "The United Nations reiterates its call on the military to respect the will of the people and put the country back on track to democratic transition."

Britain requested the council meeting

UNREST: Police stand on a road during an anti-coup protest in Mandalay, Myanmar, on March 3. Reuters because "we are particularly concerned about the buildup of military action in the northwest of the country, and we are concerned that this rather mirrors the activity we saw four years ago ahead of the atrocities that were committed in Rakhine against the Rohingya," Britain's deputy U.N. Ambassador James Kariuki told reporters.

Myanmar is facing charges of genocide at the International Court of Justice over a 2017 military crackdown on the Rohingya that forced more than 730,000 people to flee into neighboring Bangladesh. Myanmar denies genocide and says its armed forces were legitimately targeting militants who attacked police posts.

Griffiths also said in a statement that the situation in the northwest of Myanmar had become "extremely concerning" as fighting escalated between the Myanmar military and the Chinland Defense Force in Chin state, and the Myanmar military and the People's Defense Forces in Magway and Sagaing regions.

"More than 37,000 people, including women and children, have been newly displaced, and more than 160 homes have been burned, including churches and the offices of a humanitarian organization," Griffiths said.

He said attacks on civilians and civilian infrastructure, including humanitarian workers and facilities, are banned under international humanitarian law and "must stop immediately."

NZ hosts virtual APEC leaders' summit, focusing on pandemic recovery

WELLINGTON/WASHINGTON, Nov 8 (Reuters) - Leaders of the Asia-Pacific trade group APEC will focus on the region's economic recovery from the coronavirus pandemic, emphasizing supply chain support and decarbonizing economies, at virtual talks that begin this week.

Tensions are expected, however, during this week's talks among the 21-economy group over Taiwan's bid to join a regional trade pact and the United States' bid to host the 2023 round of meetings.

New Zealand is hosting the Asia-Pacific Economic Cooperation Leaders' Week entirely online thanks to its hardline pandemic response that has kept the international border shut to almost all travelers for 18 months.

"This meeting will focus on charting a path to recovery out of this once-in-a-century crisis," New Zealand Prime Minister Jacinda Ardern said in a statement.

Talks will first be held between trade and foreign ministers of the 21-economy group, which includes the United States, China and Russia, before state leaders meet online on Friday night.

APEC's member economies account for around 38% of the world's population and more than 60% of its gross domestic product.

"Together we are continuing to keep supply chains functioning and are supporting trade in critical medical supplies - including testing kits, PPE and now vaccines," Ardern said.

APEC members pledged at a special meeting in June to expand sharing and manufacturing of COVID-19 vaccines and lift trade barriers for medicines.

The APEC gathering comes in the shadow of the high-profile G20 summit in Rome and the COP26 climate meeting in Glasgow, Scotland, both attended in person by leaders.

In a news conference on Monday, Ardern acknowledged the virtual event meant the country misses out on making a big splash.

Atkins Kroll donates vehicle for Red Ball raffle

The American Red Cross Guam Chapter, together with Atkins Kroll Inc. and the Andrea Ilaio Foundation, have announced the 20th Annual Red Ball raffle in a press release. This year, Atkins Kroll donated a Toyota Venza, which will be raffled off at the Red Ball event early next year. The raffle is open to anyone, and participants need not be present to win.

Although the 2021 Red Ball has been postponed, the committee continues to raise funds so the organization can continue assisting families during times of emergency.

"Times have been challenging for us all and, like many others out there, we haven't missed a beat; we continue moving forward," said Chita Blaise,

American Red Cross Guam Chapter executive director. "We decided to postpone the Red Ball event due to health and safety concerns. However, we must always be ready for when disaster strikes and we are so thankful for Atkins Kroll's generous donation of a brand new vehicle for our raffle."

AK has donated vehicles to previous Red Ball raffles.

Raffle tickets are on sale for $100 and can be purchased at the Atkins Kroll Toyota showroom, American Red Cross headquarters in Hagåtña and the JMI offices in Harmon. The winner will be announced at the annual Red Ball in early March 2022. For more information, visit the event Instagram page Redballguam. (Daily Post Staff)
